Hopkins pleads to lesser charge

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — A Granite City man originally charged with first-degree murder and aggravated battery in the death of his wife pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to involuntary manslaughter.

Ernest L. Hopkins Jr., 58, pleaded guilty to the reduced charge before Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner in the Madison County Circuit Court.

Hopkins' wife, Ruth E. Hopkins, 56, was fatally beaten by her husband on Dec. 6. It was alleged. She remained in a coma and on a breathing machine until her death at 3:03 p.m. Dec. 23, after life support systems were withdrawn.

Local police arrested Hopkins at 5:50 p.m. Dec. 23 at his home in the 2100 block of Garfield Avenue.

"It was never anything more than involuntary manslaughter," Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone said Tuesday. "It was never murder," he said.

Trone said the state made no recommendation in the case and is preparing a pre-sentencing report.

"Sentencing should take place between 30 and 40 days," he said.

Hopkins faces a sentence of two to five years in prison or probation, Trone said. Hopkins remains free on a $100,000 bond.

Hopkins admitted to shoving his wife, causing her to fall and hit her head on the floor. He said he'd been drinking and they'd quarrelled after he returned home.

The incident was first reported at 7:10 a.m. Dec. 6. Police went to the Hopkins residence to assist an ambulance crew.

Mrs. Hopkins was found face up on the kitchen floor with bruises on her face and body, a police report said.

She was taken initially to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and then transferred by helicopter to Christian Northeast Hospital.

Hopkins was arrested on an initial charge of aggravated battery.

A Madison County grand jury then issued a two-count indictment of first-degree murder and aggravated battery on Dec. 29.

CUB wants IP rate hike on ballot

By Rick Arnold
Staff writer

BELLEVIEW — The Citizens Utility Board is planning a petition drive in five area cities to get an advisory referendum in March to defeat a proposed $265 million rate hike by Illinois Power Co.

The cities are Granite City, Belleville, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Wood River. Pat Harvey, CUB director in the 21st Congressional District, made the announcement during a CUB meeting Friday night at Belleville Area College. Eight people attended the meeting, where Harvey also spoke about a proposed $50 million rate increase for Illinois Bell and Gov. James Thompson's recent appointments to the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Harvey said the five cities were targeted for the referendum because their populations are among the biggest in the 21st district. To get a referendum on the ballot, 10 percent of the registered voters in each of the five cities would have to sign petitions.

The numbers of signatures sought in each city are: Belleville - 4,213; Granite City - 3,682; Collinsville - 1,961; Edwardsville - 1,246; and Wood River - 1,245.

In addition to the petition drives, CUB is considering the possibility of getting the city councils from the five communities to place the referendum on the ballot.

Harvey said CUB officials "are kinda nervous" about the outcome of the IP rate proposal, despite the fact that a similar rate increase was denied by the ICC last spring. Harvey said Thompson's latest appointments to the ICC, which still must be acted on by the Illinois Senate, and the ICC's new hearing examiner are "more anti-consumer" than those who denied IP's rate increase request last spring.

"The appointments are shifting the balance of power on the commission," Harvey said.

As it did during its last request, IP is justifying a rate increase, in part, by saying it's necessary to fund the amount of electricity produced by the Clinton nuclear plant. But Harvey claimed that the utility is overstating the amount of electricity produced at the plant in order to improve chances of getting the rate hike.

Harvey also alleged that IP is giving its stockholders and employees inaccurate information on the company's current financial status and the shape the company will be in if the rate hike isn't granted.

"Their public relations campaign is really taking a toll," he said.

Harvey said the ICC won't rule on IP's request until the middle of next year.

Pontoon OKs new zoning

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Controversial rezoning of a 10-acre tract of land northeast of Arlington Heights subdivision won approval from the Board of Trustees following a public hearing Thursday night.

In a 4-2 vote, the board accepted the recommendation made by the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board of Appeals to approve a change in zoning from business to single-family residential for 10 acres owned by Charles Luehmann at 22 Kelly Drive.

Voting for the measure were Trustees Robert Douglas, Bob Abel, Loren Madison and Louis Whitwell. Trustees Irene Kariechik and Marvin Ribbing cast negative votes.

Luehmann also owns 60 acres of land adjacent to the rezoned property but has not sought a zoning change for it. Village Clerk Mary Warren said Friday.

But residents in the area believe this acreage also is proposed for residential development and are concerned about the lack of roads, lack of a sewer system and traffic congestion.

Developer Donna Hogan, who resides in the area, has said she wants to purchase the 10 acres of land from Luehmann and that she plans to build homes on the property.

Hogan also is interested in purchasing additional acreage from Luehmann, if the land is rezoned from business to single family residential, and she would build more homes on this property in stages, she said recently.

The controversy started at an on-site hearing of the zoning board Aug. 19 when about 25 residents of nearby homes protested the change and development of the property for residence.

The hearing was recessed until Sept. 11 at the (See PONTON, Page 8A)

Vandals run amok, slash 30 car tires

By Andy Siering

The cars involved were parked in the 2500 block of Grand Avenue, the 2500 block of Edison Avenue, the 2500 and 2600 blocks of Adams Street, the 2600, 2500, 2300, 2200 and 2100 blocks of Cleveland Boulevard, the 2300 and 2400 blocks of Benton Street and the 2400 block of State Street.

Assistant Police Chief Ron Selph said police are investigating.

"We get this every couple of years, and it's always right after Thanksgiving," Selph said, referring to the neighborhood in which the vandalism occurred, a quiet residential area with tree-lined streets, including a number of stately homes.

The victims were Ted Yeager of Grand Avenue; Keith Miles of Edison Avenue; Thomas J. Hogan, Steven L. Wilfong and Stanley L. Martin, all of Adams Street; John W. Lay, Raymond Weubles, Wallace J. DeShon and Norman D. Grote, all of Benton Street.

Family and law called keys to drug battles

By Jim Kulp
Staff writer

ALTON — Law enforcement and strengthening of the family are the two remedies to the substance abuse problem, said Madison County State's Attorney William R. Haine.

Haine said law enforcement must have a consistent measure of response to the crime of drug abuse, and government officials must be asked to allocate resources to the problem, perhaps taking them from other programs.

He also called for a commitment to a strong family structure.

"I truly believe that saying no to drugs is important," he said. But, he added, he didn't think it would be enough if the family institution wasn't shored up. Parents, he said, should devote more time to their children, and churches must help the family.

"The family is under stress today," Haine said, and religious faith must be an integral part of any fight against substance abuse.

Haine spoke recently at a forum sponsored by the Spiritual Assembly, the Bahá'í of Alton, which has begun a campaign against drugs called "Say No and Know Why."

Haine called the drug lifestyle a "pathological lifestyle" and said there is no place for children in a family who follows that lifestyle.

"The biggest argument against the legalization of drugs is that it is a lifestyle that has no future," Haine said.

Haine said he sees the effect of drugs almost every day, when his staff prepares orders of protection for women beaten by men and child abuse. "Almost every case is a result of substance abuse."

"One of the problems in the fight against drug abuse, he said, is society's ambivalence.

"I'm a child of the '60s," Haine said. "The hallmark of my generation is that we do what we want to. Highly individualistic." He said the music, literature and a strain of intellectual thought in the '60s made fun of the efforts to limit substance abuse.

"In our own era we have the friendly drunk — who made a career of drinking to excess."

Haine, however, rejected the theory that alcohol and drugs are the same.

"The moderate consumption of alcohol is part of our culture. It's acceptable and will be with us to the end of time," he said.

"There's nothing wrong with the neighborhood tavern or the sale of alcoholic products, but I refuse to equate them with heroin (and other drugs). They are two different substances," he said.

"Drugs are based on immediate gratification. Alcohol can mean excess, but it doesn't have to. The challenge is how to have the moderate consumption of alcohol without the consumption of drugs."

Haine said he did not know if tougher enforcement measures against drunken drivers were working but added that the number of repeat offenders suggests the message isn't getting through.

Justice is an interesting business, Matoesian says

By Terry Hillig
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Presiding over a criminal trial often is like watching a drama unfold, according to Circuit Judge Andreas Matoesian.

Matoesian, who prefers to be called Andy, has presided over many trials in almost 24 years as a judge. The Granite City native has been a circuit judge since 1960 after previous service as an associate judge and, briefly, as an appointed circuit judge. He has served as the chief judge and chief criminal judge.

Matoesian, 52, is now assigned to the circuit's criminal division and, although he has served in the civil and family divisions, he said he finds criminal work the most interesting.

"Criminal is more dramatic because there's so much at stake. The testimony as it develops is kind of like watching a good mystery show."

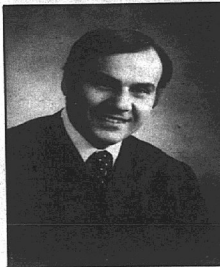

Matoesian has presided over a number of highly publicized trials, and that of Paula Sims, accused of murdering her infant daughter, is assigned to him. But he said he cannot discuss a pending case.

The more dramatic cases frequently cause some nervous anticipation, he said, but after a trial begins, "you settle down and it's like any other case."

Matoesian said he likes to deal with tough legal issues.

"Trial judges deal with constitutional issues almost every day. Appellate judges may have months of years to decide (legality), but we on the trial level have to pull the trigger."

Matoesian has a reputation for fast decisions on motions and objections raised by attorneys in his court.

Judge Matoesian
... Granite native

"Criminal (court) is more dramatic because there's so much at stake. The testimony as it develops is kind of like watching a good mystery show."

— Judge Matoesian

"I'd like to think it's because I prepare in advance, but I don't make decisions before I enter the courtroom."

Criminal cases, although fascinating, can be depressing and emotionally draining, Matoesian said. He said it is often difficult not to take the job home with him, particularly when it comes to deciding sentencing matters. "Sometimes it's a lonely job."

A diversion Matoesian finds helpful is woodworking, a hobby he has avidly pursued for 20 years. Many of his friends and colleagues have pens, gavels, candle holders and other items from his shop.

Matoesian's father came to Granite City from Armenia after World War I and later married his mother, also an Armenian immigrant. His father was a barber and Matoesian also learned that trade, using it to work his way through school.

Matoesian was graduated from the Washington University Law School in 1964, after doing undergraduate work at the University of Illinois and the Alton campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He was in private practice briefly before being appointed an associate judge.

A fondness for the law apparently runs in Matoesian's family. He has a brother and a daughter who are lawyers, and his wife, Julie, is in her third year of law school after an elementary teaching career.

If he were ever to change careers, Matoesian said he would like to teach law or political science at the college level.

"My wife, who is a lawyer, and I want to be a teacher," he said. But a career change is not likely, Matoesian enjoys what he is doing.

"There are days when it's a very difficult job and there are others when I'm amazed that I'm getting paid for this."

"It's rewarding," he said, "we do solve some difficult problems. If it ever gets easy, you're probably in the wrong business."

The residents arrived home and found the rear door had been forced open. An electric meter had been broken and removed from the rear of the house, causing power to the residence to be cut off. An investigation is continuing.

Kansas City on itinerary

The holiday lights of Kansas City herald the approach of the festive holiday season and the Walk On Support Social Group of Thomas Mortuaries Ltd. will journey to the Country Club Plaza area and Crown Center to enjoy them.

"Perhaps no area in the country comes alive with lights, activities and attractions like Kansas City at Christmas," said Bob Thomas, president of Thomas Mortuaries. "We'll leave on Friday, Dec. 1 and return on Sunday, Dec. 3. In between, we'll see two plays, tour the area and visit the Truman Library and the Hallmark Center."

On Friday, the group will attend the matinee performance of "It Had To Be You," at the Tiffany Attic Dinner Theatre, where lunch will be served. Before dinner, a visit to the Hallmark Center is planned and Friday evening the group will enjoy a guided tour.

Hayride on a Train Nov. 12

The traditional hayride of yesteryear has been combined with the pleasure of a train ride by the American Association of Railroaders, Inc., a non-profit educational and historical organization. "Hayride on a Train" is being offered on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 12.

Featured is a diesel locomotive and a train of three cars for a scenic ride along the Mississippi River on the tracks of the St. Louis & Chain of Rocks Railroad.

The gondola car will be filled with a hundred bales of straw for the hayride and there will be an old-fashioned coach with comfortable indoor seating for others.

The hour-long ride on the SL&CR line will provide the passengers with various river views and a distant look at the Arch in downtown. Trains will depart each half hour between the hours of 1 and 4 p.m. from the station platform located on Riverview Drive at the intersection with Spring Garden Drive which is one and a half miles south of the I-270 bridge over the Mississippi River. Free parking is available on the parking lot adjacent to the station platform. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children under age eleven. Reservations are not necessary and tickets may be purchased at trainside prior to the desired departure time. For more information, call (314) 741-0764.

Funds sought to keep basketball

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

MADISON — More than $800 has been raised by the newly-formed Madison High School Sports Boosters Club to reinstate the freshman-sophomore boys basketball program this season.

The goal is about $2,000, needed to fund the basketball season after budget cuts last spring eliminated the program. Three school board members and the First National Bank in Madison contributed the bulk of the funds raised so far.

The group will meet Nov. 9 to begin planning fund-raising events, according to John Hamm, the group's president.

Other officers include Madison High School Principal Bob Mehelic as vice president, Mike Vrabec as treasurer and Patricia Jones as secretary.

The meeting will take place at 7 p.m. Thursday at the high school.

At the Nov. 2 school board meeting, the board approved $1,776 to fix the roof at the Louis Baer building and $593 to repair the Harris School roof. Ryan Roofing Co. will handle the repairs.

Superintendent of Schools Dan Kostencik announced that the district's new school bus has arrived and will be fitted with a special locking device to safeguard it. The district is currently studying possible uses for the old bus, which may be sold, he said.

The board also approved plans for open houses at each of the district's four schools on successive evenings during American Education Week, Nov. 12-16. Harris School will host an open house Monday, Nov. 13; Blair School on Tuesday, Nov. 14; the Middle School on Wednesday, Nov. 15; and the High School on Thursday, Nov. 16. Each open house will be from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The next meeting of the Madison Board of Education will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14. The date was changed so that new and re-elected board members can be seated within seven days after their election. One new member was elected Nov. 7.

Park district

Trip to Branson set in December

The Granite City Park District will sponsor the last three-day trip for 1989 on Dec. 1, 2 and 3 to Branson, Mo., in celebration of an "Ozark Mountain Christmas."

The group will leave early Friday morning in order to have time to spend at the Factory Merchants Outlet Mall in the afternoon. Friday evening will be spent at the Lowe's Country Western Show featuring Moe Bandy and Barbara Fairchild.

Saturday morning's breakfast will be at the tea room at the School of the Ozarks after which a tour of the school will be made along with a visit to the Ralph Foster Museum which exhibits the work of Rose O'Neill, artist and creator of the Kewpie doll. On the way back to Branson, a stop and tour of the Shepherd of the Hills Trout Hatchery will be included. The afternoon will be for browsing at Engler's Block and other shops in the area.

Saturday night's visit to Silver Dollar City will create an atmosphere reminiscent of Christmas past. More than 40 miles of lighting emphasize the natural lines of the living structures of the attractions, in addition to shops and crafts, will be buggy and sleigh rides, strolling carolers, living nativity scenes, a specially decorated children's carousel and a different merchandise assortment in the shops than they will see in the regular season.

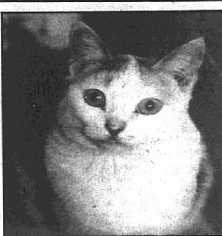

Sunday morning after breakfast, the group will visit the Shepherd of the Hills country where a one-hour guided tour will be made. If time allows, their stop will be made on the way to Springfield where lunch will be at the Piccadilly Cafeteria in the Battlefield Mall. An after-noon stop will be made at the outlet mall in Lebanon, Mo., and at the winery in St. James. The bus should arrive at Wilson Park Ice Rink between 6 and 7 p.m.

Reservations go on sale at the Wilson Park Office on Thursday, Nov. 9 at 8 a.m. Residents of the Park District will have priority with non-residents placed on the waiting list. Michel considers daughter in vote on abortion funding

By Jason Moody

WASHINGTON — House Minority Leader Robert H. Michel says he supports federal funding for abortion in the case of incest or rape. But on Wednesday, Oct. 26, he didn't vote that way.

"If my daughter were the subject of a rape and was pregnant, damn it, I'd have something done about it," the Peoria Congressman said after voting against a move to override President George Bush's veto of an abortion funding provision. "And if I do that for my daughter I can't impose anything less on other people."

Michel said he voted to sustain the president's veto of a provision allowing rape or incest victims to obtain federal assistance for an abortion even though it ran contrary to his personal opinion because of his capacity as House Minority Leader.

"It's the territory of the job," Michel said of his support of the president. "It hasn't always been that easy of a thing to live with back home ... but if you can't stand the heat, then you shouldn't be a leader."

The House voted 231 to 191 to sustain Bush's veto of the abortion provision. Even though a majority voted against the president, the strongest showing for abortion-rights advocates in years, the effort was fell 51 short of overriding the veto.

The provision was attached to a $155.7 spending bill for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, which, according to Michel, is an inappropriate way to handle such a sensitive issue.

"I don't think that issue ... is best resolved under the gun like that," Michel said, referring to the fact the extended debate on abortion jeopardized funding for a host of unrelated programs.

"For the moment we got to accept what a clear overwhelming majority feel, not the two-thirds, but certainly far more than a simple majority," Michel said.

Michel also said he would support the president if the issue comes up again, despite his personal disagreement.

"When the President was making up his mind whether to veto or not to veto the bill I was not one of those parties in the discussion," Michel said.

Abortion foes have argued that allowing federal funds to be used for abortion in the case of rape would open up a loophole for all abortion seekers because it would be difficult to prove if someone was really raped.

"I don't if there's a way of adopting some language that would satisfy the right-to-life groups that would ally their fears that you're opening this thing up to abuse," Michel said.

Host families sought here

Families or students interested in either program may contact 1-800-SIDELING.

Mitchell Fire District contests Granite's Route 3 annexations

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

MITCHELL — The Mitchell Fire Protection District is suing Granite City over the city's annexations of land along Illinois Route 3, claiming the annexations deprive the district of tax income necessary to maintain fire protection in the rest of its territory.

The district's lawyer, Jim Sinclair of Alton, said the fire district, which filed the suit last month in Madison County Circuit Court in Edwardsville, is not so much concerned over recent acquisitions as it is concerned that future annexations will "bankrupt" the district.

Sinclair said he didn't know how much tax money would be lost from the recent annexation. "It's probably not major, but the potential loss of income is."

Sinclair said that if annexations continue, the district "can't stand by and let its tax base be eroded." The city provides its own fire service within the municipal boundaries.

Mark Goldenberg, city attorney for Granite City, and Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry are defending the city.

"It's probably not major, but the potential loss of income is (major). (The Mitchell Fire District) can't stand by and let its tax base be eroded."

— Jim Sinclair,
attorney for fire district

The Illinois Revised Statutes allow for fire districts to file such petitions with the court if "the loss of assessed valuation... will impair the ability of the district to render fully adequate fire protection service to the territory remaining in the district."

The burden of proof is on the fire district, according to the revised statutes. A trial date has not been set.

Dixon among honoraria leaders say Common Cause statistics

By Sabrina Eaton
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Sen. Alan Dixon earned the highest amount in honoraria of any Illinois or Missouri senator during the 100th Congress, according to statistics from the public interest group Common Cause.

In 1987 and 1988, Dixon received a total of $88,650 in honoraria, including a $100 payment from Playboy magazine for an article on terrorism. The Illinois Democrat from Belleville kept $70,750 for personal use and contributed $17,900 to charity, the newly released report said.

Sen. Christopher S. "Kit" Bond, a Missouri Republican, was next, earning $87,000 in honoraria. He kept $57,122 and contributed $32,878 to charity.

Honoraria are fees legislators accept from special interest groups for speeches, appearances and articles.

Common Cause believes that allowing honoraria undermines congressional integrity, but defenders of the system argue that legislators are underpaid and need the extra income.

President George Bush last week urged that salaries be raised and that honoraria be ended.

Senators must give any honoraria they accept over 40 percent of their congressional salary to charity.

There is no limit on the number and amount of honoraria a member can receive from single organizations for multiple appearances, speeches or articles, as long as the 40 percent limit is respected.

Senate Minority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., got the most honoraria of any senator in a single year, Common Cause said. He accepted $106,050 in 1988 and gave $80,000 to charity.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., received $43,940 during the two-year period, kept $3,450 and donated the rest to charity. Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo., accepted $26,150 and kept it all for personal use.

Money goes to research of quakes

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Senate has approved legislation proposed by Sens. Jack Danforth, R-Mo., and Al Gore, D-Tenn., authorizing $20 million to be spent on research and planning for future earthquakes.

The bill was introduced in May after the disastrous earthquake in Soviet Armenia piqued the senators' interest in promoting preparedness along the New Madrid fault on the border of Missouri and Tennessee.

The largest earthquake ever in the United States is believed to have occurred along the New Madrid fault in 1811, and scientists believe a major earthquake is likely there in the next 20 years.

"The terrible situation in California brings home the importance of being as prepared as possible for a major earthquake," Danforth said of the recent quake in northern California. "We need more research, more public awareness of the hazards, and more effort at all levels to develop plans to reduce the damages of quakes, particularly through greater attention to building practices."

Increase noted in aged veterans

A new study by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) projects continued growth in the number of elderly veterans in the 1990s, but a decline in the total veteran population for the foreseeable future.

"The study provides valuable assistance in developing spending and program policies," says Department of Veterans Affairs Secretary Edward J. Derwinski. "It is particularly important in planning for future medical care for veterans."

In Illinois, veterans 65 years old and older will increase from today's total of 300,000 to 374,000 in 2000, according to the projection. But the total veteran population in Illinois is expected to continue its decline from 1.2 million today to 1 million by 2000.

The veteran demographics assist the Department of Veterans Affairs in formulating policy, budgeting and program planning. Included are national and state-level data on living ex-service personnel by age, sex and period of military service, with breakdowns by county, VA medical districts, and VA medical center primary service areas.

According to the study: "There were 27.2 million veterans living in the United States and Puerto Rico as of March 31, 1989. By the turn of the century this number is expected to fall to 24.1 million and by 2040 to be down to 13 million.

"While the number of veterans will be on a downward trend, the elderly veteran population will grow dramatically. The number of veterans at least 65 years old will increase from today's total of 6.7 million to a peak of 9 million in 1999, a 34 percent increase. Veterans 75 and older will grow from today's 1.4 million to 2.6 million in 1999, and then more than triple in size over the next 15 years to 4.4 million.

Those 65-years-old and over now represent 25 percent of the veteran population. This percentage will rise steadily over the next 25 years before peaking at 46 percent in the year 2016.

"The overall decline in the number of veterans will not be distributed evenly among the states. In general, the Northeast and industrial Midwest will lose the most veterans, while certain states in the Sunbelt will lose the fewest veterans.

"World War II veterans, numbering 9.3 million, are currently the largest group of veterans, and Vietnam era veterans are second, with just under 8.3 million. By 1993, Vietnam veterans will be the largest group.

County proposes 13% tax hike

By Terry Hillig
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County property taxes would climb by 13 percent under a proposal unveiled Oct. 25 by the county board's finance committee.

A need to spend more for employee retirement plans is responsible for much of the anticipated increase, Madison County Board members were told.

The real estate tax rate would rise to 87 cents per $100 assessed valuation from the current rate of 77 cents.

The county tax levy would be $14.1 million, up about $2.25 million from this year. The board is expected to approve a budget soon for the fiscal year that will begin Dec. 1.

The tax increase was proposed despite $2.1 million in new revenue expected from a state income tax surcharge enacted this year.

The proposal calls for a $65.5 million budget, about $11.6 million greater than this year's budget. That includes $9 million for the county's planned new administration building, which is being financed by a sales tax increase approved earlier.

James Monday, county director of administration, said increased costs for Social Security and the state-administered Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund and Sheriff's Law Enforcement Program account for much of the proposed increase in the tax levy.

"Some of us are not too happy that we have to raise the levy; but we have no control over it," Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said.

Contributions to the state retirement programs must increase because the General Assembly has approved increased benefits, Monday said.

A higher levy for Social Security is needed to ensure that the county has enough money to meet its obligations for the first six months of the new fiscal year, he said.

Hagnauer said the board may have made a mistake when it cut taxes last year.

"It's catching up with us now," he said.

SAFE DRIVING was the topic of workshops held last week for all employees of the city of Madison. Ted Lempke, a representative of the Illinois Municipal League Risk Management Association, conducted the workshops, which attempted to educate about safe driving habits and related topics, such as the effect of various legal and illegal drugs on drivers' reflexes. Mayor John Bellcoff said the workshop was his idea in an attempt to keep down insurance costs. The Risk Management Association is a group of 396 Illinois municipalities which have banded together for self-insurance.

What Simon says is a no-no to opponent

By Steve Horrell
Staff writer

CAHOKIA — Republican candidate Lyran Martin touched down at Parks Airport just long enough to announce plans for her U.S. Senate bid next year and to level a blast at Democratic incumbent Paul Simon, the man she hopes to unseat for the position.

Martin spoke to a small gathering of supporters at the Parks Airport lobby Monday afternoon, exactly a year before the 1990 election vote. The Parks stopover was the Metro East connection in a seven-city fly-over that included stops at Rockford, Moline, Peoria, Springfield, Carbondale and Rosemont.

Martin, 49, emphasized what she called basic differences between herself and Simon on issues ranging from taxes to the death penalty, which she favors.

Martin, while describing herself as a "plain-spoken fiscal conservative" and a "friend of small business, agriculture, and the taxpayers," used the word liberal to describe Simon's position on social issues, and she accused him of being preoccupied with his own political ambitions rather than the needs of his constituents.

Fire destroys GC house

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A suspicious fire at 3:30 a.m. Tuesday gutted a 1½-story frame home that had previously been the target of a possible arson.

The home of Henrietta Mitchell in the 4000 block of Braden Avenue was totally involved when firefighters arrived early Tuesday.

Flames were coming out of the doors and windows and through the roof, Fire Chief Charles Bernaix said.

"We have men out there now still investigating the fire to see if they can get some evidence," Bernaix said Tuesday morning.

"We are basically labeling it as suspicious in origin," the chief said. "We think it probably started on the porch."

Fortunately, the resident was not there, Bernaix said. "If she had been there she would not be here with us now," he said.

Mitchell is in her mid-70s, police said. She was staying with a relative Monday night, it is believed.

"Right now we are estimating the house as a total loss," Bernaix said. Firefighters remained at the scene until 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

In a fire in the early morning hours of Nov. 1, firefighters extinguished the porch beneath a porch at the Mitchell home.

A pile of lumber, a ladder and lattice work under the porch were charred and siding on the house also was damaged by the fire.

In the earlier fire an odor of kerosene was detected and it appeared someone had tried to set the house on fire, a firefighter told police officers.

The home owner heard someone near the porch at about 9 p.m. Oct. 31 but the intruder ran away when she investigated.

Simon, from Makand, Ill., made an unsuccessful bid for the presidency last year.

"Illinois deserves better than a part-time senator who ran for president because Michael Dukakis was too conservative," she began. "He's voted numerous times to raise your taxes."

She told the gathering that Simon voted against a 1986 tax reform law and against tax cuts in 1981 that she said saved a typical family $2,200 a year.

"If you agree with him, if you don't like keeping more of what you earn, if you think he knows better how to spend it than you do, then take $2,200 and send it to me in care of Taxes R Us, Washington, D.C., and I guarantee you, he'll spend every cent."

In May, Simon held a spirited town meeting at Cahokia Village Hall during which he answered questions on such subjects as social security, education and foreign relations.

Simon, Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., and Rep. Jerry Costello, D-21st District, are scheduled to speak Friday at the Scott Joint Use Rally planned at Augustine's Convention Center in Belleville.

Village Hall, where the full zoning board voted to grant the change. Zoning Board members are Carl Horstmeier, Veronica Kelly, Jim Hill, Neva Lucas, Michael Hanks, Toni Wilson and Bill Ross, chairman.

Attending the site hearing were Zoning Board members Horstmeier, Lucas, Wilson, Hill and Ross.

Petitions from nearby residents opposing the zoning change were presented to the Village Board of Trustees at its Sept. 12 meeting.

No decision was reached at that meeting, despite a 75-minute executive session during which Charles L. and Brenda S. Farmlay of 22 Kelly Drive and their attorney, John C. Haynes, reviewed the rezoning proposal with village officials.

Tammy Wilson of 435 Kelly Drive also signed a formal objection to the proposed rezoning.

The objectors alleged there are inadequate roads, water and sewer service to the property, plus a high groundwater table and the prospect of increased drainage problems.

Haynes addressed the board on behalf of the Farmlays, raising the issue of the water table on the site and questioned the legality of Zoning Administrator Bob Vincent presiding over a recessed meeting of the Board of Appeals when it was decided to recommend the zoning change.

Haynes also criticized zoning board members who attended the on-site hearing, stating they refused to walk through the property when asked.

Board member Jim Hill, who was at Thursday's meeting, declined to walk through the property when questioned.

New homes would alter the environment and traffic volume and thus affect the health and welfare of established residents, Haynes contended.

"You set up the zoning codes to protect the welfare and health of the people," he said. All the housing is on septic tanks, due to no sewers and no through roads, the attorney said.

"This 10 acres is just opening the door," Haynes said. Proposed construction in the area may also change the rural characteristics of the neighborhood for its present residents, he said.

Ken Larson, who owns property adjoining Luehmann's land, said he believes it would be to the advantage of area residents to have the area zoned for residential purposes rather than business.

"This is progress and this is a great opportunity for the village to come out with residential (zoning) rather than business," Larson said.

Trustee Whitsell said the issue should focus on the zoning of the property. Whether the area has sewers and streets is not the issue, he said. If the area requires a new drainage pond or whatever it takes, it will be done, he said.

"We are going to be bigger than Fairview Heights and that area is going to grow. We should zone the property for its best use — for people, not for business. People don't want a service station or a tavern there but, as it is now, it is zoned for business," Whitsell said.

"We will deal with the zoning tonight and with any building problem later," he said.

Trustee Douglas said that the number of houses built on the rezoned property, along with streets and drainage in the area, must conform to the village codes.

"To develop that area with the groundwater problems present is a serious mistake," Trustee Ribbing said. He advocated waiting until utilities and a holding pond were installed.

"You can't deny a man the use of his land," said Trustee Madison, the senior board member, who was acting as mayor pro tem.

Madison questioned the difference between the property under consideration and adjacent Arlington Heights, which has multi-family housing.

"I don't see that property is any worse than anywhere else," he said.

Village Attorney Keith Jensen agreed that consideration should be given to traffic safety, water and sewers in the area.

"But it would be moving to a more appropriate use as residential. B2 (business) zoning is not appropriate to preserve the characteristics of the whole area."

"As it sits, it's undeveloped land and if (Illinois) 162 extends out there that will change its characteristics," Jensen said.

Gov. James Thompson and House Speaker Michael Madigan have given their support to the bill. The General Assembly reconvenes Jan. 10.

In Illinois, curb-to-curb van service is also available in all locations of Bi-State's service area, provided by the Madison County and St. Clair County Transit Districts. The Agency for Community Transit (ACT) provides van service in Madison County and East St. Louis. In St. Clair County, areas other than East St. Louis are served by the Demand and Response Transportation System (DARTS).

"For more information on Bi-State routes and schedules phone Transit Information weekdays from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. at 231-2345 in Missouri or 1-800-2233-BUS in Illinois."

SPRINGFIELD — Attempts to legalize riverboat gambling in Illinois hit a sandbar of opposition in the final days of a fall veto session last week.

The bill, which would have legalized 19th century-style paddle wheel casinos on the Mississippi, Illinois and Des Plaines rivers will have to wait until legislators meet again in January.

In October, proponents argued that the bill could generate up to $28 million in revenue for each city serving as a riverfront site next year. Under the proposed bill, five sites on the river would be chosen in 1990, and five added the following year. At a public hearing in August last month, several area mayors and business leaders spoke in support of the bill.

"Right now, we're in dry dock," said Cindy Huebner, Senate press coordinator. "It didn't come to a vote. There were strong indications that the votes wouldn't be there."

Huebner said House Republicans sought votes for expansion of the O'Hare Exposition Center in Rosemont in exchange for their support of the gambling bill. The inability of both sides to reach a compromise ended the riverboat gambling bill, Huebner said.

The Senate passed the bill last spring, but it was subsequently voted down by the House. It was introduced Oct. 17 at the fall veto session.

Gov. James Thompson and House Speaker Michael Madigan have given their support to the bill. The General Assembly reconvenes Jan. 10.

Bi-State registers progress for disabled

A dramatic increase in ridership by passengers with disabilities has taken place in the past year, according to the Bi-State Transit Committee.

Committee members cited these statistics:

• Bi-State Transit currently operates 188 lift-equipped buses with wheelchair lifts, of which 224 are serviceable. Forty percent of Bi-State's peak hour bus fleet is now lift-equipped. Disabled persons ride for half price with a valid identification card.

• Twenty-seven of Bi-State's 120 bus routes offer accessible service using lift-equipped buses. From July 1, 1988, through June 30, 1989, a total of 1,385 wheelchair passengers trips were made on Bi-State buses, compared to a total of 260 trips in the previous fiscal year — a 431 percent increase.

In July and August (the first two months of fiscal 1990), trips increased 17 percent over the same period a year ago.

• The 60 newest lift-equipped buses, which entered service in September, allowed Bi-State to provide accessible service on routes not previously served, including four more routes in Missouri and seven in Illinois. Each of these new buses is equipped to secure two wheelchairs. Older buses have only one securement position.

• In Illinois, 60 percent of the wheelchair passengers on Bi-State buses travel between Alton, Edwardsville, Southern Illinois University and Granite City, with 40 percent destined for downtown St. Louis.

• In Illinois, curb-to-curb van service is also available in all locations of Bi-State's service area, provided by the Madison County and St. Clair County Transit Districts. The Agency for Community Transit (ACT) provides van service in Madison County and East St. Louis. In St. Clair County, areas other than East St. Louis are served by the Demand and Response Transportation System (DARTS).

"For more information on Bi-State routes and schedules phone Transit Information weekdays from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. at 231-2345 in Missouri or 1-800-2233-BUS in Illinois."

Following is another article on teen-agers in need of foster homes through the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services.

Francine is a beautiful girl. Although she is usually cheerful, she is now deeply depressed. She is a 12-year-old and pregnant. The thrill of acting grown up is gone. She is now faced with the reality of having a baby and the sobering responsibility of caring for a child. Her parents are divorced. Her father disappeared years ago.

The teen has always looked for someone to give her attention and love. Finally, she turned to her mother, who had been neglecting her. She enjoyed being the center of their attention. Then she became pregnant.

Although Francine has done well in school, she has often been truant as she searched for excitement. She enjoys roller skating and singing and has a very good voice. Francine makes friends easily and is in good health.

The teen is now willing to accept authority. At the present time, she is greeting advice and help from an agency that deals with unwed mothers.

Francine needs to become a part of a foster family who will care for her and her baby.

If you are interested in a teen like Francine, or in foster care in general, contact Jeanette Rettle at 876-8885 or toll-free at 1-800-624-KIDS.

Warriors dominate tournament on way to 9th title

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

PALATINE — There are several ways to win a state championship. Take 1987. Herb Heaton does it in dramatic fashion, scoring with 93 seconds left in sudden-death overtime.

Or take 1989. The Warriors grabbed this state soccer tournament by the throat and never let go. Making up quite nicely, thank you, for a mediocre showing in Chicago earlier in the season, Granite City finished with a flourish in a dominating 2-0 win over Glenbrook North on Saturday evening at Palatine Fremd High School in northwest suburban Chicago.

It was the Warriors' ninth state title in the 18 years Illinois has had a state soccer tournament. Their dominance was proven again and again as they allowed only one questionable goal in their final five post-season games.

Jay Robertson scored early and Chad Lignoul got the clincher late to set off a red and black celebration which has come to be a custom.

"This is about the best game we played all year," said senior captain John Van Buskirk. "It's the only way to end my high school career."

Van Buskirk was a heroic figure as he established himself as perhaps the finest player in the illustrious history of Warrior soccer. Playing on a badly-injured right leg for the whole tournament, he was an inspiration to all his teammates and his coaches.

"As a one-legged player, John should still be all-tournament," said Warrior coach Gene Baker, who won his eighth state title. "He has to be pretty close to the top as far as my all-time players are concerned."

As most people suspected, it was the Warriors and Glenbrook North in the championship. But Granite City came out flying and dominated the game. They buzzed the Spartan goalmouth in the first minute and never let up.

Robertson got what proved to be the tournament-winning goal at 13:03. He took a pass down the left wing from senior Sean Bain and was on his way. Spartan keeper Jon Novy, who kept Glenbrook North in the game with 15 saves, came out to meet Robertson, but the Warrior junior chipped a shot from a sharp angle over Novy and into the far corner.

"Jay was much better tonight than he was last (Friday) night," said Baker. "He had built up a lot of energy not playing the last three weeks."

Less than a minute after Robertson's goal, the Spartans' fate was all but sealed. Senior captain Craig Radis was given a red card and ejected after a run-in with Pat Rich. As they both got up, Radis slapped Rich and was ejected. The Spartans (18-6-5) had to play the rest of the game with 10 men.

"He slapped me in the face when we got up," said Rich. "I might have kicked him when we

Ailing JVB heroic in victory

PALATINE — This is coming from a guy who has been watching Warrior soccer for only three years. I never saw Dave Fernandez or any other Warrior greats of the 1970s or the early '80s.

But if any of them were any tougher or much better than John Van Buskirk, they must have really been something.

Van Buskirk wrapped up his four-year high school soccer career here Saturday night the only way that would have been proper — with a state championship. It was the second time he got the gold medal put around his neck. He was just a sophomore when he made the all-tournament team in 1987.

It would have been fitting if Van Buskirk had been the tournament's dominant player. It would have been nice to see him score five or six goals in three games and leave everyone in attendance amazed at his high level of ability.

But a leg injury suffered a month ago wasn't yet healed. There were too many big games to play to allow time for healing. As a result, Van Buskirk was far from himself for what should have been the thrilling climax to his great career.

The injury limited to Van Buskirk to only one assist in the three games. After scoring six goals in two regional games, he had only three assists in the final six post-season contests. But what he lacked in stats over the past two weeks he more than made up for in guts and grit.

"John could not kick with his right leg," said Warrior coach Gene Baker. "But he deserves to play if he wants to. John is a positive part of this team even if he's just standing around."

Van Buskirk did far more than stand around. He played all of three games in 24 hours and played well. He wasn't the dominant force he was in many other games over the past four years, but he was the next best thing — an inspiration.

"Coach Baker moved me over to the left wing because I couldn't kick with my right leg," said Van Buskirk, who finished with 19 goals this season and 47 for his career. "It hurts a little bit now, but winning the championship makes it all worth it."

Van Buskirk suffered the disappointment of a loss to Collinsville in the 1986 sectional finals as a freshman. And he wasn't much of a factor at state last year because of the muddy fields as the Warriors lost to eventual champion Buffalo Grove in the semifinals.

But he joined cousin Troy Adamitis as sophomore members of the 1987 all-tournament team when he scored two goals. Then came this year, a heroic performance reminiscent of Terry Bradshaw, who always came back for more no matter how banged up he was.

"It was an ethical decision to let John play," said Baker. "I'm very close with him and his family. I know it had to be frustrating to him to not be able to play his best up here. But he would be the first to say it's a great

In what was perhaps the first 4-0 game ever to go into double overtime, the Warriors survived Addison Trail 2-1 on a goal by senior Bobby Cheung at 87:20 in Saturday afternoon's state semifinal game. But it was only after two Warrior goals were disallowed despite an apparent hand ball violation.

"That's part of coming up here," said Baker. "You have to go by what you saw on those calls. Of course I'm biased. I want our guys to get the calls. It's disheartening, but you have to be tournament tough. We were."

Cheung's goal came on a header off Matt Cook's header with 2:40 left in the second overtime, right before sudden death would have started. It was Cheung's first goal of the year.

"I almost knew I was going to score," said Cheung, who played his best soccer of the year in the tournament. "Coach teases us about scoring now being as good as getting ten goals during the regular season."

If that's true, Cheung was worth about 20 goals at state. He also assisted on Jay Robertson's SKIP BIRDSONG moves in to take the ball away from Glenbrook North's Craig Radis during Saturday night's state title game. Minutes later, Radis was ejected from the game after an altercation with Pat Rich.

Unsung heroes come up big in tournament

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

PALATINE — With John Van Buskirk injured and unable to play at top speed for the state tournament, the Warriors had three choices:

- 1) Hope that the senior co-captain could overcome a bad leg and lift his team to victory.
- 2) Give up.
- 3) Turn to some other players to make some positive contributions, give more than they had given all season and win as a team.

It's not surprising that the Warriors picked choice No. 3. Choice No. 1 was applied. Van Buskirk gave it everything he had and was a heroic figure. But it was obvious he couldn't take over a game and dominate the scoring. And choice No. 2 isn't in the Warrior playbook.

So it was time for some unsung heroes to emerge. And they seemed to come out of the woodwork. Just look at the scoring summaries in post-season play.

Junior Jeff Stephens, who scored one goal during the regular season, got three in the playoffs, including two in a 3-2 sectional semifinal over Springfield just a day after his grandmother's death.

Senior Jeff Rosenberg, who had one goal last year and no points this season, broke onto the stat sheet for the first time with his only goal in the 1-0 win over Collinsville on Halloween Night to send the Warriors to state.

Senior Danny Weathers, who scored two goals in the regular season, had two in the playoffs, including the first goal in Saturday's 2-1 state semifinal win over Addison Trail.

Senior Bobby Cheung, who had two goals as a junior and none this year, found the net for the first time this year in overtime for the winning goal against Addison Trail. Cheung injured his knee early in the final game and had to sit out most of it.

Senior Chad Lignoul, who came close to scoring all year, finally did it for the clinching goal in Saturday night's 2-0 win over Glenbrook North in the state title game.

Juniors Dan Terrell and Larry Strader also scored their only goals of the season in post-season play.

"It's a challenge to the other players to play well and contribute," said Baker. "We showed some character. Jeff Stephens was just phenomenal in the tournament. He was so relaxed out there it was scary. And Larry Strader made a significant contribution."

Tradition

Ex-players on hand serve as reminder of Warrior past

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

PALATINE — After playing double overtime Saturday afternoon, the Warriors were a tired bunch heading into that evening's state title game.

Glenbrook North had a large group of enthusiastic fans on hand and the Spartans were pumped up. But Warrior coaches Gene Baker, Mel Bunting and Dave Ames had one thing going for them — tradition. And they reached back through the years for a little inspiration.

About 50 former Warriors, most of whom had lined up to play in state championship games themselves, stationed themselves along the fence in front of the Warrior fans on the

Baker, the architect of that tradition. "But seeing all the former players gives them a feeling of what it's like."

The Warriors aren't as dominating now as they were in the 1970s, but that's only because the rest of the state caught up with them. They might not win five straight again, but they're still in the picture. They went to state seven times in the 1970s and six in the 1980s.

Only once did they fail to reach the semifinals in 1983. Only once have they gone back-to-back years without reaching state (1984-86). And never — never — have the Warriors lost a championship game. They are now 5-0 when playing for all the marbles.

"We didn't say anything about that before the game," said Bunting.

"I thought of that," said Baker. "But we didn't want to bring it up. I still get nervous heading into the championship game. But this is a feeling that never gets old."

The Warriors' win makes it 12 state titles for "downstate" Illinois. In addition to Granite City's nine, Collinsville has won two and Quincy Notre Dame has one.

"We point that out to them," said Baker. "You look at that map on the back of the tournament program and see all those dots up in the Chicago area. Then you look down at Granite City and see all of our championships."

"We always come up here wanting to show them we can play down south," said John Van Buskirk. "We didn't do very well up here early in the season (the Warriors were 0-2-1 in a week-end tournament at New Trier in September). We came here to show them the real Granite City Warriors."

east side of the Palatine Fremd High School field. At the conclusion of the national anthem, the Warriors charged over and shook hands with their predecessors and saluted their fans.

Over the next hour and a half, the 1989 Warriors earned their niche in the Warrior legacy. "My old players came from everywhere," said Baker. "And it was a great lift for the players. We were tired heading into the game. Going over there and seeing those great players and their parents was a great shot of adrenalin. We were hurting, but we came out and played an excellent first quarter. That was the game."

"It would seem like any boy growing up in Granite City would know the footsteps he's following in by playing high school soccer. Nine state titles in 18 years is nothing to sneeze at. When the Warriors won five straight state titles from 1976-80, they won the final game by scores like 6-1 (1977), 5-1 (1980) and 4-0 (1976)."

tribution when we put him out there. Lignoul and Cheung worked hard all year and it paid off for them on the scoreboard."
"They just went out and did it on their own," said Van Buskirk. "We didn't talk much about me being hurt. They knew they had to pick it up and contribute. It was just a great team effort."

But that's not to forget those who had been among the scoring leaders behind Van Buskirk. Junior Jay Robertson came back from 3½ weeks of inactivity to score the winning goal in both the quarterfinals and the title game, giving him 10 goals for the year. Senior Sean Bain assisted on Robertson's goal in the championship match, giving him nine goals and 11 assists for the year. And Matt Cook assisted on Cheung's winner in the semis, giving him 17 points. Junior Skip Birdsong also played well despite getting red-carded in the quarterfinals and getting hurt in the semis.

"Everybody came through," said senior defender Jerry Richardson, who scored three goals this year and had one disallowed in the semifinals on a questionable offside ruling. "I even thought I had one there."

But it was defense that ruled the weekend. The Warriors outshot their opponents 62-17 in three games, while goalies Brent Broshaw and Ron O'Shea both seniors had it relatively easy.

"It's hard to play goal for this team," said Baker. "You have to stay in the game and keep the other players in it. Brosh was very steady all the way through and Ronnie was the same way. The one goal (for Addison Trail in the semifinals) wasn't his fault. Ronnie keeps every body in it on the sidelines, too. He and Brosh compete with each other in a good way."

"We always want to go out and get the shutout," said Richardson. "Every time we score we think like it's 1-0 for the other team."

winning goal in Friday's 1-0 quarterfinal win over Rich Central.

"Bobby has worked hard all year," said Baker. "I kidded him that this was an Oriental holiday (Cheung is of Oriental and Italian descent)."

The Warriors took a 1-0 lead at 17:52 when senior Danny Weathers scored his fourth goal of the year off a restart. Sean Bain made a short corner kick to John Van Buskirk, who put the ball right in front where Weathers headed it past Blazer keeper Chris Plos.

"The idea is to catch them by surprise on that play," said Baker. "John ran over there when Sean was ready to kick it. They thought John was going to make the corner kick and they were a little flat-footed. It was nice for Danny to get one up here. He expected more from this season, but a goal here is like a dozen during the regular season."

With a stiff northerly wind, Baker switched goalies each quarter. Brent Broshaw played into the wind and Ron O'Shea played with the wind.

"They're both very good keepers, and Ronnie punts the ball very well," said Baker. "So we wanted to use that to our advantage when we had the wind."

Jerry Richardson apparently made it 2-0 early in the fourth quarter, but offside was ruled. Five minutes later, Eric Burns scored for the Blazers to create a 1-1 tie at 70:35. Same Cece took a free kick from the right side and Burns scored after a scramble. The ball barely crossed the goal line before O'Shea knocked it out.

"It was a hand ball on their goal," said Cheung. "We all saw it."

"Our kids were just stunned after that call," said Baker. "I sure thought this one might not be for us. They keep it interesting up here."

Addison Trail put on some good pressure for the next several minutes, but failed to score before overtime.

"We were upset after allowing the goal, but I think they (Blazers) just got psyched up," said Cheung. "We had a small team meeting and settled down."

Van Buskirk scored on a header in the second five-minute overtime, but that one was also nullified when Van Buskirk was called for pushing.

"He went straight up," said Baker. "The officials over on the sidelines were even surprised. They were laughing about that call. But things happen at the state tournament. We lost a game in 1975 when the ball was blown into the goal. We were playing on Astroturf (in Normal) and two of our players collided. The ball was sitting near the goal line and the wind just blew it across the line."

Cheung made sure of another championship game appearance just a minute later.

were down, but not deliberately. He just lost his composure."

The Warriors had a one-man advantage the rest of the night, and it showed. They outshot the Spartans 30-5 and senior goalie Brent Broshaw was never threatened outside of a brief flurry in the final seconds of the first quarter.

"It's unfortunate," Glenbrook North coach Al Knepler said of Radis's ejection. "We thought we still had a chance. I've seen teams play better when they were a man short. And I've seen the opponent become complacent. But Granite City is too well-coached for that."

"We didn't even think about them having 10 men out there," said Warrior senior defender Jerry Richardson.

The Warriors kept up the pressure. Van Buskirk was stopped by Novy on a breakaway two minutes into the fourth quarter and Robertson missed an open net on the rebound.

"I thought those missed chances might catch up with us," said Baker. "But we were intimidating out there at times. We matured so much through the year, and this was our best game of the season. Pretty good time for it."

Lignoul didn't miss at 69:32. Jeff Stephens made the play along the left touchline. His hard shot was blocked by Novy, Dan Terrell's rebound effort was also stopped before Lignoul buried the second rebound.

"Chad was so excited," said

Baker. "He's done everything but score this year."

That was it. The celebration on the bench and in the stands built for the next 10 minutes until the final siren sounded. Senior captain Matt Cook sobbed uncontrollably — and unashamedly — for several minutes. Several teammates joined him.

"This is the best feeling in the world," said Richardson. "We've dreamed about this all our lives and now it's happened. It feels a lot better than I thought it would."

It was revenge of sorts for the Warriors. In their 13 trips to state, they've failed to reach the semifinals only once. That was in 1983 when they lost in the quarterfinal on penalty kicks to — you guessed it — Glenbrook North.

"Their coach and principal showed a lot of class," said Baker. "They apologized for the incident when the kid got the red card. I know both of them, and a gesture like that makes it a lot nicer."

Knepler coached Quincy Notre Dame to the state title in 1985, beating Collinsville 2-1 in the title game. He just missed becoming the first coach to win state with two different teams.

"Nobody expected us to be here," he said of a season in which nine of Chicago's top ten teams were eliminated prior to state. "It's been a Cinderella season. I thought we played pretty well. But Granite City deserved it again."

And again and again.

K MART PROJECT: Wayne Perzee, district manager for K mart, and news anchor Karen Foss, KSDK-TV (Channel 5), stand beside the clothes for the needy donation box in the lobby of Channel 5.

K mart helping gather warm clothes for needy

Large white boxes to collect coats, sweaters, mittens and blankets for the needy in the St. Louis metropolitan area have been set up at the area's 23 K mart stores and KSDK-TV (Channel 5), 1000 Market St.

Wayne Perzee, K mart district manager, said the boxes will remain at the sites until Dec. 24.

Karen Foss, KSDK anchor and a Suburban Journals Woman of Achievement, is working with K mart to inform the public of the collection effort.

"We are thrilled to have Karen Foss help us this year to get the message out to St. Louis," Perzee said. "We at K mart are eager to help in many areas of the communities we serve. This is just another way we can show that concern."

Perzee said that during the "last three years of our involvement in this type of program, we have collected more than 100,000 cold-weather items for the needy."

He said the donated material will be picked up by the Gateway Seed and St. Louis Coca-Cola companies and distributed to local charities. Each box will be posted with the names of charities receiving the donations, and with telephone numbers for those interested in helping or needing help.

Perzee said agencies which will distribute collected materials to children include the Urban League, Aunts and Uncles, St. Clair Inter Government Grants, Human Development Corp. and Catholic Charities services.

Frohardt attacked by flying saucers in science class

Sixth-grade students at Frohardt Elementary School participated in a science project involving the manufacture of cardboard aerobics, some of them resembling flying saucers.

These ring-shaped discs were judged for aerodynamic design through throwing for distance and throwing for accuracy.

Teachers Carlene Buenger, Ruth Noeth and Joyce Sullivan also rewarded the students with the best artistic designs.

Winners in the competition were:

Best artistic design: Lorri Hatcher

Longest throwing distance: Jimmy Drewery

Most accurate aerobie: Rachel Herman

The teachers said they considered all participants to be winners, in that each student gained increased realization that science can be fun.

Kelly Reed pledges Alpha Sigma Alpha

Kelly Reed of Granite City has pledged Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority at Western Illinois University, Macomb. She is a sophomore majoring in business.

More than 100 women pledged sororities at WU this fall.

Patricia Scaturro ... scholarship winner
Scaturro named DAV recipient

Patricia E. Scaturro of Granite City is the recipient of a Disabled American Veterans scholarship for the fourth consecutive year. The grant was awarded by DAV Chapter 53 of Granite City. Scaturro, a senior-year student at McKendree College, Lebanon, was named to the homecoming court at the Lebanon, Ill., college and served during recent homecoming weekend activities. She will be graduating from the McKendree College Honors Program in May with an art major and teaching certification. An artist and a member of the Dean's List, Scaturro will be the focus of a one-person art show in December at McKendree.

Daughter of Robert and Donna Scaturro of Granite City, the 1986 graduate of Granite City High School is employed at CPT in Fairview Heights.

More funds set for University Park

A budget of $1.5 million for the second phase of infrastructure development for University Park at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was approved in October by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Funds for the project were appropriated to the Capital Development Board by the General Assembly and Gov. James Thompson.

The second phase of infrastructure will make an additional 40 acres available in the park, a mixed-use technology facility being developed on the east side of the campus near Illinois 157.

Building on initiatives begun in the first phase, the project will involve site grading and preparation, extension of the four-lane parkway being constructed in the first phase, the addition of two or more two-lane roadways, and utility extensions.

Students commended in 1990 merit program

Kenneth Spalding, principal of Granite City High School, has announced that Karin L. Duppel and Catherine Sanderling have been named Commended Students in the 1990 National Merit Scholarship Program. A letter of commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the competition, will be presented to each of the two seniors.

About 35,000 Commended Students nationwide are being honored for their performance on the 1988 PSAT/NMSQT test, which ranked them in the top 5 percent of more than one million students who entered the 1990 Merit Program by taking the qualifying test. Commended Students scored slightly below the level required to continue in the 1990 competition for Merit Scholarships, but they have shown exceptional academic promise, Spalding said.

Area school benefits from Lutherans

In the past five years, Metro East Lutheran High School in Edwardsville has received $51,220 in support from the Aid Association for Lutherans

A large portion of the money has been used to provide tuition aid for disadvantaged students.

Herb growers at BAC give scholarship

What began as a small herb garden at the Belleville Campus of Belleville Area College has grown into a $500 scholarship for a BAC horticulture student.

The Metro East Herb Club, a group interested in growing and drying herbs, has presented the scholarship to the BAC Foundation after raising the funds from sales of herbs, herb vinegars, potpourri and various herb products.

The award is designated for a second-year horticulture student at BAC. The recipient will receive $250 a semester for two semesters.

"This is a great opportunity for a horticulture student," said Charles Giedeman, coordinator of BAC's horticulture department.

BAC allows the Metro East Herb Club to use a 30 by 100 foot plot of land for the garden and the water and electricity necessary for the upkeep of the garden.

Giedeman said the club has made several contributions to the community college in appreciation of BAC's cooperation.

"The club has donated several herb books to the college library, set up displays around the community and displayed herbs at the college."

Marion Mathenia, head of the Metro East Herb Club scholarship committee, said the group was eager to make a contribution to the horticulture department and the Foundation.

"Giving the scholarship was our way of saying to the school, 'You've been so nice to us that now we want to do something for you,'" said Mathenia. "We just can't say enough about how helpful everyone at BAC has been."

BLAST OFF Breakfast Provides Fuel For Body—Sunny Side Up

By Lynn Venhaus
Journal Staff Writer

Yeah, yeah, yeah. We all have been told breakfast is the most important meal of the day, but do we practice what we preach? C'mon, 'fess up. Doughnuts do not count. Neither do oat bran cookies.

We're talking rib-sticking, invigorating, nourishing breakfasts, the kind you remember from days gone by. Perhaps your earliest recollections of breakfast are cozy thoughts of country mornings. Did you bound out of bed at the first whiff of bacon frying and coffee percolating?

If you would rather stay snug under the quilt for "five more minutes" and forego the morning meal ritual, this lecture is for you. Nutritionists often state, matter-of-factly, that after the long fast during a night's sleep, your body needs a sufficient supply of nutrients for the morning's activities. Studies have shown performance of both mental and physical tasks improve with proper nourishment.

How you prepare that nourishment is up to you. If you want to eat last night's pizza to jump-start your body, go ahead. If you opt for traditional, classic all-American breakfast staples like eggs, bacon, toast, juice and coffee, start those kitchen appliances whirling to a happy tune. Turn on the radio and make a breakfast that will get you ready for the day.

There are so many alternatives for today's breakfast. Take bacon, for instance. Now you can purchase it regular or thick-sliced, lower in salt, center-cut or even ready-to-microwave. You can have regular hickory-smoked or maple-flavored bacon.

You can break the boring breakfast routine by varying preparation of the usual eggs and bacon. We have provided some alternative ideas, including topping bacon to create a new taste sensation. Instead of toast, bake muffins or a quick bread, or pick up croissants at a bakery. Eggs can be perked up with a wide variety of toppings—set out assorted sprinkle-ons and sauces like cheese and salsa or chopped veggies and Hollandaise. You can whip up omelets or scramble or poach eggs, making them just the way everyone likes them.

If it's the weekend, call breakfast brunch and stretch it out. You can invite a few neighbors or friends, too. A brunch, after all, is one of the simplest, quickest and easiest forms of entertaining.

You really can splurge and jazz up coffee with options of vanilla or almond extract, cinnamon stick stirrers, whipped cream, chocolate shavings, sprigs of mint or a dash of liqueur. Be adventuresome—try cappuccino, espresso or decaffeinated.

For the freshest coffee, grind your own beans using the proper grind for your brewing equipment. Today there are many specialty shops offering flavored teas and coffee. Grinding coffee beans also is a service at many local supermarkets. Be sure to keep beans and fresh ground coffee stored in a cool, dry place in an airtight container.

The following breakfast recipes just might give you an "all's-right-with-the-world" feeling. We can't do anything about the morning headlines, but we can help you avoid starting the day hungry and cranky.

Breakfast Pizza

- 3/4 lb. bulk pork sausage
 - 2 cups frozen loose-pack hash brown potatoes
 - 1/2 cup buttermilk baking mix
 - 1/2 cup very hot water
 - 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
 - 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
- Move oven rack to lowest position. Heat oven to 450°. Grease 12-inch pizza pan or cookie sheet. Cook and stir sausage and potatoes until sausage is fully cooked; drain.
- Mix baking mix and hot water until dough forms; beat 20 strokes. Turn onto surface dusted with baking mix; knead 60 times. Press dough in pizza pan or into 12-inch circle on cookie sheet with fingers dipped in baking mix. Spread sausage mixture over dough; sprinkle with cheeses.
- Bake until crust is golden brown and cheese is melted and bubbly, 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Spinach 'N Poached Eggs

- 2 to 3 pkg. (9 oz. each) frozen creamed spinach
 - 3 to 4 tbsp. dehydrated vegetable mixture (soup greens)
 - 6 to 8 eggs
 - 3 to 4 tbsp. croutons

- Remove spinach from cooking bags and place in large saucepan. Cover and cook over medium heat about 2 to 4 minutes. Break apart with fork and continue to cook, covered, until heated through, about 5 to 7 minutes. Stir in vegetable mixture. Keep warm while poaching eggs.
- In 3-quart saucepan or deep 10- to 12-inch omelet pan, or skillet, bring 1 to 3 inches of water to boiling. Reduce heat to keep water gently simmering. Break cold eggs, 1 at a time, into medium-large bowl. Hold bowl close to water's surface, slip eggs, 1 by 1, into water. Cook about 3 to 5 minutes, depending on desired doneness. With slotted spoon, lift out eggs. Drain in spoon or on paper towels and trim any rough edges, if desired.
- Spoon spinach mixture onto platter. Sprinkle with croutons. Top with poached eggs. Sprinkle with paprika, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
- Note: If preferred, fry eggs.

Apple-Cinnamon Muffins

- 1 egg
 - 2 cups buttermilk baking mix
 - 3/4 cup chopped pared apple (about 1 medium)
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 2 tsp. vegetable oil
 - 2 tsp. ground cinnamon
- Heat oven to 400°. Grease bottoms only of 12 medium muffin cups or line with paper baking cups. Beat all ingredients at medium speed. Pour batter into cups slightly; stir in remaining ingredients just until moistened. Divide batter evenly among cups. Bake until golden brown, 15 to 17 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake at 350° for 50 to 60 minutes. Insert toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes; remove from pan. Wrap tightly and store in refrigerator. Makes 1 loaf.

Savory Green Onion Bacon

- 1 lb. sliced bacon (see note)
 - 1 cup finely chopped green onions with tops
 - 1/2 to 1 tsp. hot pepper sauce
- Preheat oven to 375°. Arrange 10 to 11 bacon slices on each of two 10½-by-10½-by-1-inch jelly roll pans or on rack in broiler pan. Stir together green onions and hot pepper sauce. Sprinkle onion mixture evenly over bacon slices. Bake in preheated oven until desired crispness, about 17 to 20 minutes. Drain on double-thickness paper towels. Makes 6 to 8 servings (20 to 22 slices).
- Note: For thick-sliced bacon, increase cooking time by 5 to 6 minutes.

Autumn Coffee

- 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon
 - 1/4 tsp. ground allspice
 - Dash ground cloves
 - 1 1/2 cup hot brewed coffee

Tips For Great Coffee

For the freshest, most flavorful coffee, grind your own beans using the proper grind for your brewing equipment. Store beans and fresh ground coffee in a cool, dry place in an airtight container. Use a coffee measure to measure ground coffee. Use a level scoop for each 6 ounces of fresh, cold water. Use a clean coffee maker. Heat the water to about 200°. After brewing, transfer to a thermal pot to preserve flavor and aroma. If coffee is to be served more than 30 minutes after brewing, do not reheat coffee.

Discomforting angina acts like heart attack for shorter time

By Jacqueline Lankier
Registered dietitian
American Heart Association

For many Americans, physical exercise or emotional stress can trigger an attack of severe chest pain. This condition, called angina, afflicts about 300,000 Americans each year.

The discomfort of angina occurs when the heart muscle does not get enough blood to accommodate the heart's need during moderate stress periods. Normally the heart muscle handles this stress with adequate blood.

Although the pain lasts only a few minutes, the symptoms often are frightening. They include oppressive pain, lightness, heaviness or pressure usually behind the breastbone. The pain can spread to the arms, shoulders, neck or jaw. Numbness sometimes is associated with angina.

Angina is not a heart attack. The pain of a heart attack usually is much more severe and prolonged. Heart attack is caused by a permanent blockage of blood flow through an artery to the heart muscle. It causes permanent damage to the heart. Angina does no permanent damage because it only is a temporary reduction in blood flow to the heart. Although angina rarely causes permanent damage, it can be a warning sign that a person is at risk of having a heart attack. Therefore, it is important to consult a physician.

Here are a few other suggestions from the American Heart Association for those affected:

- Stay under a physician's care.
- Control physical activity. Be aware of which activities bring on angina and avoid them. While exercising, pace it and do not overexert.
- Avoid emotional upsets. Learn to control temper and emotions. If needed, seek professional help.

- Adopt good eating habits. Digestion causes the heart to work harder and to require more blood. Avoid heavy meals and rich foods. Relax for a while after eating.

- Control weight. Being overweight can aggravate angina.

- Check with the doctor about alcohol. Alcohol in moderation is generally acceptable, however an excess amount can act as a harmful stimulant to the heart. Understanding angina is the secret to controlling it. If this scenario sounds familiar, see a doctor. It can be treated. For severe chest pains, do not hesitate to go to a hospital or call 911. There is no embarrassment in being safe rather than sorry.

Here is a recipe for those trying to adopt good eating habits. It is low in fat, and, as a bonus for those trying to control weight, it is low in calories, too.

Syrian salad

½ cup uncooked cracked wheat or bulgur wheat
1 cup water
1 cup chopped green onions
½ cup chopped parsley

½ cup chopped tomatoes
¼ cup olive oil
¼ cup lemon juice

Place wheat and water in saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes.

Add onions, parsley, tomatoes, olive oil and lemon juice. Toss. Chill in refrigerator.

Eat by rolling inside a lettuce leaf.

Yields 3 cups or 48 tablespoons; 19 calories, 1.2 gm. fat, no cholesterol and 2 mg. sodium per tablespoon.

Try rice with fish

With lighter and healthier eating today, fish and chicken have become everyday menu mainstays. When these new-found favorites are accented with savory sauces and showcased with spectacular side dishes, they become perfect party fare as well.

Chicken thighs take on party airs when presented as Garlic-Thyme Chicken. Cooked and sauced with a garlic-thyme white wine mixture, the chicken's flavors are highlighted and complemented by rice.

Salsa swordfish

1½ cups finely diced, seeded tomato
¼ cup finely diced red bell pepper
¼ cup finely diced, unpeeled, seeded cucumber
¼ cup coarsely chopped fresh cilantro
3 tbsp. lime juice
½ tsp. sugar
2½ cups water
2 tsp. butter or margarine
1 pkg. (6 oz.) long grain and wild rice
1½ to 2 lb. swordfish, halibut or tuna steaks, cut 1 inch thick, cut in 6 servings pieces
½ tsp. salt
1 small ripe avocado, diced (optional)

Combine 1 cup tomato with bell pepper, cucumber, cilantro, 2 tablespoons lime juice and sugar in small bowl. Set aside at room temperature.

Combine water, 1 tablespoon butter and contents of rice and seasoning packets in medium saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, until liquid is absorbed, about 25 minutes.

While rice simmers, melt 1 tablespoon butter. Stir in remaining 1 tablespoon lime juice and salt.

Place fish on rack of broiler pan. Brush with half butter mixture. Broil 6 inches from heat source 5 minutes. Turn. Brush with remaining butter mixture. Continue to broil until fish is opaque, about 5 minutes.

Stir ½ cup tomato and avocado into rice. Spoon salsa over fish. Serve alongside rice.

Makes 6 servings.

Garlic-thyme chicken

6 large chicken thighs (2 to 2½ lb.), skinned
¼ cup flour
1½ tsp. thyme leaves
1 tsp. paprika
1 tsp. garlic salt
Up to ½ tsp. ground red pepper
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1½ cups water
1 cup dry white wine
1 pkg. (6 oz.) long grain and wild rice
1 cup chopped watercress or sliced spinach leaves

Coat chicken with combined flour, thyme, paprika, garlic salt and red pepper.

Heat 2 tablespoons butter in 10-inch skillet over medium heat. Brown chicken in butter, about 4 minutes per side. Reduce heat. Cook, covered, until chicken is tender, about 25 minutes.

While chicken is cooking, combine water, ¾ cup wine, 1 tablespoon butter and contents of rice and seasoning packets in medium saucepan. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, until all liquid is absorbed, about 25 minutes.

When chicken is tender, remove with slotted spatula to serving platter. Add remaining ¾ cup wine to skillet. Cook and stir 1 minute or until thickened.

Four sauce over chicken. Stir watercress into rice. Serving alongside chicken.

Makes 6 servings.

HOLY TRINITY BULGARIAN Eastern Orthodox Church, 13th Street and Grand Avenue, Madison, recently celebrated its 80th anniversary.

Holy Trinity marks its 80-year history

Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, 13th Street and Grand Avenue, Madison, recently celebrated its 80th anniversary in service to the area.

The following history of the church was passed along by Rev. Peter Stamboldiev, parish priest.

In late 1907, the Holy Synod of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church sent Hieromonk Father Theophilact and the Rev. Chirio Kara-bashev to Madison and Granite City. Their assignment was to strengthen the spirit of immigrants and to help them organize their own church parishes.

The first Bulgarian Church Board in Madison was organized in 1908 with the intention of building a big parish church to serve as a native spiritual center. A 100-foot lot on Madison Avenue, between 13th and 14th streets, was purchased for the new church.

In the spring of 1907, construction of the church was begun. As the roof was ready to be put on in September, the United States suffered a financial collapse, followed by the worst depression in American history. The completion of the church was abandoned. More than $10,000 invested was lost.

"A very huge sum of money for the time," according to a church spokesman.

Today, the old church building on Madison Avenue stands as a monument of the faith and devotion of the congregation.

With the help of Theophilact and Karabashev, the Church Board in Madison, though greatly discouraged, started to plan for a new parish church. But in Lincoln Place in Granite City, the mood was enthusiasm. A church board was established. As a result, on Sept. 14, 1909, a small parish church was erected and dedicated to the heavenly protection of the holy apostles of the Bulgarian people, Sts. Cyril and Methodius. Theophilact and Karabashev consecrated the new church by placing Holy Anthonims from the Holy Synod of the Bulgarian Orthodox Church. On the same day, both parishes offered the very first divine liturgy in Bulgarian language in the United States.

By the end of 1910, the second Holy Trinity Church in Madison was completed on the corner of 13th Street and Grand Avenue.

By the decision of the Holy Synod, Karabashev was named the parish priest for Holy Trinity in Madison and Theophilact was appointed to Sts. Cyril and Methodius Church in Lincoln Place.

Later on, Theophilact was transferred to Steelton, Pa., to organize the parish church there, the Holy Annunciation, and the Karabashev was appointed to serve both parishes here.

From 1913 to 1920, the church of Sts. Cyril and Methodius was closed much of the time because there was no priest available to serve it. In 1919, the Church of Holy Trinity was destroyed by fire. At that time, the Rev. Viko Popov was appointed as parish priest for Sts. Cyril and Methodius and residents of both Madison and Granite City worshipped together there.

On Sept. 1, 1928, the chief of the Bulgarian Orthodox Mission in the United States, the Very Rev. Protopresbyter Dr. Krusto Tsenov, assisted by Popov, conducted services for the cornerstone of the new Holy Trinity Church in Madison, on the same site of the church destroyed by fire. This was the third Holy Trinity Church in Madison. By the end of 1929, the building was completed and consecrated by placing on the Holy Table Anthonims by the Holy Synod.

Through 1939, the two parishes in Madison and Granite City reached an unanimous decision that only one parish priest would serve both and in the future serve one parish, the Holy Trinity Bulgarian Orthodox Church in Madison. Today, Holy Trinity serves the entire greater Metropolitan St. Louis area.

"From the first divine liturgy on Sept. 14, 1909, until the present, the divine liturgy was celebrated, 'Lifting the holy cup to the Lord His cup — to him,' which is the greatest possible human expression of gratitude and love, of hope and devotion."

According to a church spokesman, under the blessing of the Divine Liturgy, generation after generation has grown up and witnessed the beautiful devotion of their father's and mother's faith and loving traditions.

"Under the heavenly protection of Holy Trinity, our national patrons, the Holy Brothers Cyril and Methodius, we proved that the Holy Orthodoxy is the moving power of our life. After many, many days of struggles, many days of achievements, our parish church has the right today, as the oldest Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church in the United States and Canada, to report proudly: these are my spiritual children."

"The parish is a spiritual and cultural unit of the whole diocese. The parish gave to the American people many, many of the finest cultural and social leaders — professors, doctors, dentists, lawyers, judges, teachers, artists, businessmen, technicians, politicians and engineers."

Pastor Lloyd, wife back from Seoul

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lloyd of Granite City have returned from a vacation in Seoul, South Korea, with their son, the Rev. Gordon "Skip" Lloyd and his family.

They visited, among other places in Seoul, the Palace of Kyongbokkung, the Olympic stadiums, a Korean folk village, and took a boat ride on the Han River. The couple also traveled above the 38th Parallel to Pan Mun Jom, Mount Mani San on the island of Kangwhado, and Taechon Beach where they went swimming in the Yellow Sea.

The pastor and deacons of the South Gate Korean Baptist Church entertained the couple at a traditional Kalebbe dinner and they also had dinner on the Southern Baptist Mission Compound with the missionaries stationed in South Korea. The founder and director of the Suzanne Foundation in Seoul also entertained them at dinner in her home.

Lloyd is a religious education consultant for the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention stationed in South Korea. He has had published his first text book in Korean and is in the process of writing his second book.

The Lloyds also spent a week in Honolulu on their way back home. Their son had arranged as a surprise for his parents for them to be met at the airport in Honolulu with a traditional Hawaiian Lei ceremony by a friend of the Lloyd family—the Hawaiian entertainer and recording artist Randy Hong.

Eurythmics have potential hits

It appears that the Eurythmics got most of their experimental tendencies out of their system with last year's album, "Savage." That LP had some of the band's more daring music, but unfortunately, some of the songs sounded unfocused.

In contrast, the new album, "We Too Are One," is arguably the most accessible Eurythmics record yet. It also is arguably the best album from the group, which features the guitar of Dave Navaro and the duo of Steve Stewart.

"We Too Are One" mixes in many of the musical influences Stewart and Navaro have shown in the past. For instance, the hard-driving soul of "Would I Lie To You?" and "Sisters Are Doin' It For Themselves" is heard in two of the new album's featured tracks — "Revival" and "King & Queen of America." The gothic pop of "Sweet Dreams (Are Made of This)" sneaks into "Don't Ask Me Why" and "Sylvia" — two of the new LP's four ballads. These two songs are the most intriguing tracks on "We Too Are One."

The Eurythmics, as on their previous three albums, "Be Yourself Tonight," "Revenge" and "Savage," rock with authority on the new album. The title song accents Navaro's soulful vocals and a swinging rhythm line with prickly guitar work from Stewart.

Stewart's guitar also puts sting into the easygoing pop melody of "My My Baby's Gonna Cry." Even the ballad, "When the Day Goes Down," has plenty of power with its bold drum track and hard-edged guitar solo.

In a sense, "We Too Are One" represents a resurgence for the Eurythmics. Though they never have slipped off the rock charts, they haven't had a monster hit single since "Would I Lie To You?"

With several potential singles, however, "We Too Are One" could restore the Eurythmics' chart momentum while adding another strong chapter to their solid songbook.
